

Welcome to My Blog

August 1, 2021

Hello Tarot Adventurers,

Welcome to my “Voices of Tarot Blog: Exploring the Wisdom and Wonder of Tarot in Our Lives.” Here you will have the opportunity to better acquaint yourselves with the tarot archetypes, personality types, and life situations represented by the 78 cards of the Thoth tarot deck.

My Vision

My vision is that you come to know the cards intimately and are able to identify how they are interwoven throughout your life, on both a conscious and subconscious level. Each has a unique “voice” and message, with much wisdom and guidance to share. Through work with them, we can begin to identify and release old beliefs, patterns, and attitudes that no longer support us and cause blocks and challenges to the creative and expressive flow of our lives.

The result: a more purposeful, conscious, authentic, creative, and inspirational existence for all of us!

The “Wisdom” and “Wonder” of the Process

Along with a more systematic exploration of the meanings, or “wisdom,” of the 78 cards in these blog posts, you’ll find the occasional spontaneous piece, where I can be responsive to the relevant synchronicities that appear in the moment and want to be expressed. I might share a specific instance of how the cards are currently showing up in my life or that of another person, perspective from others knowledgeable about the tarot universe, and other, more unexpected things.

I feel it is important that we tune in to not only what we might want from the tarot, but also what Spirit (Source, Universal Intelligence, your Higher Self) might wish to convey to us through the medium of the cards. This is part of the “wonder” of this mystical process, which no left-brain, linear approach can pigeonhole into a fixed formula. Each reading, each card is different, as are we!

Personal Connections

There will also be an opportunity to ask questions and share stories, leading to possibilities as yet unimagined for this space. For example, what might you like to see here in these “pages”? I look forward to not only sharing my understandings, but also learning from your experiences with and perspectives about the cards as well.

Through the use of the cards as instruments for personal transformation, together we will continue our lifelong evolutionary path toward living from our highest human potential and making an ever more positive contribution to life on planet Earth.

Other Resource Pages a Click Away

So as to not be repetitive here with information available in my general tarot website, here are two additional resources to expand your awareness about my approach to tarot:

1. For a brief overview of the tarot deck and the purpose, process, and benefits of a tarot reading, as well as client testimonials and a sample reading, simply click on the “Tarot Readings” button found above.
2. For additional client comments about the impact their readings have had in their lives and for information about my own personal journey with and through the tarot, click on the “Meet Barbara” button found above.

So, look for a new posting by Wednesday each week, and please be sure to let me know who you are by leaving a reply below.

I am excited about sharing the “wisdom and wonder of tarot” with you and exploring where this adventure together takes us.

Blessings on your journey,
